I object to the recent order by the U.S. Government to require insurers to provide free contraception coverage. I believe that contraception is morally wrong, and that no one should be required to dispense it against the conviction of their conscience. I ask that you reverse the order, or at the very least, broaden the conscientious objection availability under the order to allow citizens to opt-out of the program if it violates their moral beliefs.

Sincerely,

Nicholas Zinos
